EARLY HISTORY OF HONG KONG

The history of the Hong Kong community is really much longer than the history of the Colony itself. The Colony exists as an emporium for foreign trade with South China, and was founded in 1841, when the firms that had previously found a more or less insecure foothold in Macao or Canton began to migrate to the island where they could carry on their business under conditions of their own making, and under the protection of the British fleet.

It was in the early years of the 17th century that the Honourable East India Company first began to take an interest in Far Eastern trade. Japan had not then closed its ports to foreigners, and it was at Firando in Japan that the Company established its first factory; others followed at Tywan in Formosa, and then at Amoy. At that time any trade done with Southern China was done through the Portuguese merchants of Macao. The Ming Dynasty, which was then nearing the end of its long reign, was favourable to foreign trade, and an attempt was made to establish a branch of the Honourable Company at Macao. The difficulty that arose was not from the Chinese but from the merchants of Macao, who were reluctant to admit a competitor that might become too powerful. As a matter of fact the history of the Company's two centuries of trading under all sorts of restrictions, some of them distinctly undignified, showed none of the masterful diplomacy which distinguished the policy of the Board of Directors in India, and from 1625 to 1834 trade was carried on in spite of restrictions and exactions which gradually became systematised into a monopoly on the Chinese side which was as exclusive as the Company's own.

The cancellation of the Company's Charter was one of the many results of the Reform Act which threw open Parliament to the classes that were rising to power and wealth through the Industrial Revolution, represented by merchants whose interests and prejudices were all in favour of the most complete free trade procurable, and it was not long before the "interlopers," who had found means to do a considerable amount of business under the old system, began to demand a base of operations where they would not be subject to the whims of officials whose sole object was either to hamper their operation or to extract profit from them.

From the very first the island of Hong Kong, which was eventually chosen, and which had at that time not even a name, was developed on a basis of free trade and equal opportunities for all, and the tradition has lasted down to the present time.

At first the intention of the Home Government was to make the Governor of Hong Kong their representative for all purposes in the conduct of diplomacy and business with China and the Far East; but the system was found to work unsatisfactorily, and, after some thirty years, the functions of local Government were separated from those of wider policy, and an Embassy was established at Peking.

The growth of trade made it necessary to acquire a larger strip of land on the Kowloon side of the harbour, and some two square miles, including an island in the harbour called "Stonecutters," were leased in perpetuity. The island is now reserved purely for military purposes, but the added territory is to-day a busy dock area and thickly populated.

THE COLONY OF HONG KONG

Prior to 1841 there was no recognised name for the island of Hong Kong. The anchorage at Aberdeen was known to sailors as Heung Kong. The Chinese characters representing the name may be translated by "Fragrant Streams" or "Fragrant Harbour." Another possible rendering is "Heung's Harbour," the haunt of a notorious character named Heung.

Kowloon is the anglicised form of the Chinese Kau Lung (nine dragons). This name is derived from the ridge of nine hills which form a rampart along the northern side of the harbour and seem to guard the approach to China.

Hong Kong became a British Colony in 1841. In 1860 about two square miles of the mainland of Kowloon and Stonecutters' Island were leased in perpetuity. The district called the "New Territory" was leased to Great Britain in 1898 for a period of 99 years. It covers 270 square miles and include Lan Tao Island and the waters of the farther shores of Deep Bay and Mirs Bay.

A book entitled "China," published in 1847, contains a chapter with the following heading: "Hong Kong, its position, prospects, character and utter worthlessness from every point of view to England." To-day one laughs at that prophecy. However when it was written there seemed to be reason for such a gloomy forboding for the place had an unenviable reputation for rain-storms, typhoons, pirates, poisoners, malaria, dysentery, etc., and in England contempt for the new colony was expressed in the then popular song, "You may go to Hong Kong for me."

To-day this formerly despised possession is one of world's busiest ports, and for an eastern city is remarkably clean, peaceable and healthy. As one writer remarks: "Hong Kong is a splendid example of what can be accomplished energy and capital associated with the courage and restraint that go hand-in-hand with British colonisation. Over 100 years of patient administration by 26 Governors and 12 Administrators have brought Hong Kong into the front rank of the world's commerce. This happy achievement is due in no small measure to the harmonious working of two such different peoples as the British and the Chinese."

Hong Kong has taken its place in the world-wide system of Civil Aviation and Airlines from all parts of the world meet at the air-port, known as Kai Tak, in Kowloon. In the year 1948, the passenger traffic dealt with at Kai Tak was 7,144 aircraft of all countries; for the same period the total freight and mail handled at Kai Tak, totalled 2,053,375 kgs. aside from the airfield, there is adjoining, a flying-boat base. The chief industries are the building and repairing of ships and the making of rope, cement, glass, cigarettes, cigars, matches, paper, woollen, enamel and textile.

The best time to visit Hong Kong is during the winter months, when British conditions are enjoyed. Between March and May the weather is apt to be changeable and clammy, and from May till the end of September it is too hot and humid to be comfortable. The shade temperature ranges from 50 degree F. in January and February to 90 degree F. in the Summer months, and greater extremes are known. The average shade temperature for the year is slightly over 70 degree F. Geologically, Hong Kong cannot be declared interesting, but it holds great attractions for the botanist and the entomologist. Its scenery is superb and there are few prettier drives than the one round the island or that on the mainland from Kowloon to Tai Po or Kowloon to Castle Peak. There are also glorious rambles to be had in winter on the island and in the mainland hills.

Few places can show such a variety of games and recreations. Golf, tennis and yachting are indulged in all the year round; football (Rugby and Association), cricket and hockey are played in the Winter months; and during Summer lawn bowls, lawn tennis, baseball and perfect bathing are enjoyed. The Jockey Club hold a three-day Annual Meeting every February in addition to the many other race meetings throughout the year.

In Hong Kong East meets West. The latest from London, Paris and New York can be found cheek by jow! with all the alluring work of the Orient. If one wishes to travel in town one may do so by motor-car, taxi, bus, tram, rickshaw or sedan chair, while on the harbour motorboats, ferries, launches and sampans are at one's disposal.

The water is pure, the food good and plentiful and hotel and boarding-house accommodation first class. Hong Kong boasts a University, secondary and primary schools, numerous places of worship, up-to-date hospitals, modern cinema houses, and the finest golf course (at Fan-ling, in the New Territories) in the Far East.

The Government is administered by a Governor, aided by an Executive Council of six officials and six unofficials. The Legislative Council is presided over by the Governor, and is composed of the Officer Commanding the British Forces, the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney-General, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, the Financial Secretary, the Director of Public Works, the Director of Education, the Director of Medical & Health Services and eight unofficial members, of whom is elected by the Chamber of Commerce and another by the Justices of the Peace. The remaining six, three of whom are of Chinese race but British nationality, are appointed by the Government.

The new constitution, which it is expected will be introduced before the end of this year, provides for a popularity elected Municipal Council, and for a Legislative Council which will include eight Unofficials and only seven Official Members. Four of the Unofficials will be nominated by the Governor and the remainder will be elected by the Justices of the Peace, the Chamber of Commerce and two by the Municipal Council.

+ International signals.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Signal No. 1 is a cautionary or "stand by" signal, and does not necessarily imply bad weather.

Signals Nos. 5 to 8 convey definite warning of expected gales from different directions. A "gale" is equivalent to a mean wind velocity of 34-40 knots, but gusts may reach 60 knots. These four signals are therefore of equal significance as regards wind velocity, but are for different wind directions.

Signal No. 9 will not necessarily be used if conditions warrant the hoisting of No. 10 as soon as it is evident that the gale will increase.

Signals will be lowered when danger is considered to be over.

The Black Ball (strong wind warning signal) is primarily intended to warn small craft of the onset of strong winds which are not expected to reach gale force. It may be hoisted to give warning of strong monsoon winds in winter, or of winds due to tropical depressions of small intensity.

THE CHINA SEAS NON-LOCAL STORM SIGNAL CODE FOR VISUAL STORM WARNINGS

(As amended by agreement between the Meteorological Service of Indo-China, the Central Weather Bureau of China, and the Royal Observatory, Hong Kong, and used from 1st January, 1950).

1. The following ten symbols are used:—

indicating the figures

1      2      3      4      5      6      7      8      9      0

2. These signals are hoisted at the mast head and at the yard-arms of a storm signal mast, and have the following significance:—

- (a) 1 symbol at the mast head showing the time at which the centre of a tropical cyclone was in the position indicated (Table I).
- (b) 4 symbols at one yard-arm showing the position of the centre. The two upper symbols give by their corresponding numbers the latitude in degrees; the two lower symbols the longitude in degrees (initial 1 omitted for longitudes of 100° or over).
- (c) 3 symbols at the other yard-arm. The two upper symbols of this group show the speed and direction of motion of the centre at the time of observation, or, alternatively, certain conditions (Table II).

The lowest symbol of this group shows the intensity of the cyclone, together with the degree of accuracy with which the centre has been located (Table III). The latter is specified as the radius of the circle whose centre is shown by the latitude and longitude. Thus the position indicated by the latitude and longitude signals does not purport to be the exact position of the storm centre, but merely the centre of a circle of specified radius within which the centre of the storm is believed to lie.

Operated since 1888, the Peak Trams offer one of the safest ways of travelling. The trams are fitted with independent wire cables, and are controlled by an electrical haulage equipment at the Upper Terminus. This equipment is operated by an engineer who can see from a track indicator exactly where the trams are at any time.

In the course of the journey the brakesman communicates with the Engine Room by a system of signals, and the Engineer moves the trams as required by the brakesman. In the event of an extreme urgency, it is only necessary for the brakesman to release his hold of the Safety Brake Bar and this action automatically closes two powerful jaws, which are fitted at each end of the chassis, onto the centre track rail which is fastened firmly to the track bed. This powerful braking system will stop the tram within eight feet on the steepest gradient of the track.

Confident Motherhood

From his first feed of Cow & Gate Baby shows pleasure and contentment—he loves it! And the Mother, too, watches with delight the regular and natural growth of sound healthy flesh and strong firm bone. Maternal feeding is not always possible in these days—it was not so here. What a relief then for the mother to find a reliable substitute which gives such natural and reassuring results and is recommended and prescribed by doctors everywhere.

Peek Frean's Biscuits

GIFT PARCELS

A scheme has been arranged whereby residents abroad are able to send parcels of Peek, Frean & Co.'s products to their friends in the United Kingdom and other European countries. The scheme functions simply and with the minimum inconvenience to the person ordering the parcels.

Parcels may be purchased through Messrs. Robertson, Wilson & Co., Ltd., David House, 67-69, Des Voeux Road, Hong Kong (Telephone 21746), payment being made in local currency at the time the order is placed. The order is then passed on to London and an undertaking is given to deliver the parcel within a few days.

Each parcel contains Biscuits made from the highest quality ingredients of a type supplied only to export customers.

They are delivered direct from the factory, the contents are perfectly fresh and the risk of damage to the goods in transit is minimised.

Donors are thus able to send parcels merely by signing a form and paying the cost of the parcel. They are relieved completely of the task of purchasing, packing and despatching the goods.

This is an ideal medium for providing the youngsters at school with inexpensive additional "tuck."
